Jonathan Jenkins

About Jonathan

Jonathan has held Directorships in all three of the recruitment companies he has worked with.

As Sales Director of one of the UK's largest sales recruitment companies he increased turnover in just one year by more than £1 million.

Founder and Managing Director of a start-up executive search firm based in central London, under the CSG umbrella, Jonathan created a business which billed over £4 million in retained fees in under three years, opening three offices in London, Birmingham and Manchester.

Since September 1999 Jonathan has been involved in Recruitment Training, delivering material at both national seminars and to clients In-House.

Jonathan founded Recruitment Store in August 2005, and delivers solutions across the UK, Europe and Middle East.

Jonathan's Style

Jonathan has helped hundreds of Recruitment Consultants to increase the size of their business and achieve their goals

His knowledge encompasses a wide range of skills, processes and strategies designed to benefit every level of Recruitment Consultant & Recruitment Manager.

In addition, with his background in the search industry Jonathan is an excellent facilitator for companies looking to enhance and develop their search process, methodology and practices. Jonathan has recently re-engineered the entire search process for two leading boutique search consultancies?

Jonathan's passion is training and this is demonstrated in any course he delivers, he is firm believer that you need to get it right first time, every time.
