

Trainer Bios

Simon Harrington

About Simon

Simon Harrington has over 10 years recruitment industry experience.

Notable achievements include the opening of seven offices for one of the fastest growing recruitment consultancies in the UK. As Operations Director Simon had complete control of the tactical and strategic development of the accountancy division and was responsible for the training and development of his team of over 50 Consultants, Team Leaders, Managers and Regional Managers. All but one of his Management team was personally developed by Simon.

In addition Simon spent four years as a Consultant and Manager working for one of the UK's largest recruitment sales organisations.

His operational emphasis is a great asset when Simon works with recruitment companies in a consultancy capacity.

Photo to follow

Photo to follow

Simon's Style

Utilising his experience in the temporary, interim, permanent and search and selection marketplaces Simon is very passionate about recruitment, training and life in general and this is reflected in his high energy delivery style. He has an ability to enable people to reach their full potential and with his varied background he can work with teams across all areas of the business from Resourcers through to Directors. His operational emphasis is a great asset when working with clients on a consultancy basis. He has the ability to be able to review a companies process's and pinpoint specific areas of improvement. This has had a dramatic effect on the bottom line of the clients he has worked with.

As well as having a zeal for developing and ensuring best practice with his Clients he also has an ability to motivate and inspire all of his delegates, whether he is working with them in group training sessions or on a one to one basis.

An Interesting fact about Simon

Simon takes an active interest in the environment and trained as a boxer for a live TV charity event to raise money for the protection of the rain forests.